APS Industrial
Electronics Line Card

Market leading range of electronic components and solutions

Partnering with some of the world's leading technology companies, APS Industrial offers Australian & New Zealand customers a broad portfolio of electronic components.

Building a technology partner for you…

APS Industrial is a locally owned and managed technology partner formed by experienced leaders in the local industry and incorporates the existing businesses of Ramelec and HiTech Control Systems. Together these two companies have been successfully servicing the electronics, electrical & automation needs of customers in Australia for over 20 years.

Partnering with some of the world's leading technology companies, APS Industrial now offers Australian & New Zealand customers a broad portfolio of electronic components.

Your gateway to electronics success

At APS Industrial, we're the gateway that connects the world's leading electronic component manufacturers to the local industry. We're committed to offering our customers an experience that is consistent and reliable as we together create solutions for the Australian and New Zealand electronics industry.
